SEVENTH STREET SHUFFLE

A TRAMPLED STREET—Jaywalking across Seventh Street becomes legal next Monday when the city of San Jose closes the controversial street for a 90-day traffic test to determine whether a permanent closure would be feasible.

Seventh Street Closes; City To Study Results

After two years of arguments, compromises, student referendums and miles of reddish-looking tape, Seventh Street will shut its doors to all motor vehicles early Monday morning.

Don't cheer yet—it's only temporary. The closing of Seventh Street was approved by a slim 4-3 vote last May by the San Jose City Council only after the proposal was compromised to a "temporary" basis.

The San Jose Department of Public Works will study the traffic results of the closure and report to city planners at the end of the current fall semester.

The results of that study will determine whether Seventh Street will remain permanently closed. Richard Blackburn, chief traffic engineer for major San Jose city streets, stated that his department will "gather facts as to where the traffic will go that formerly went through the campus."

Blackburn estimated that nearly 8,000 motor vehicles travel through the campus section of Seventh Street during the average day.

"Right now the closing may have little or no effect on the traffic," said Blackburn. "But we are concerned with the overall effect: the effect the closure will have five to 10 years from now."

Two years ago, Wilbur Smith and Associates, traffic consultants, were retained by the city of San Jose to make a thorough study of the downtown and college traffic problem.

"The Smith report will be presented to the city in two weeks," said Blackburn. The report will make suggestions as to "the overall changes needed in the traffic scheme of the downtown area, for the present and the future."

Blackburn added that the plan would probably have a direct effect on the permanent closing of Seventh Street.

Under the temporary closing arrangement, pedestrians will be able to cross Seventh Street at any point between San Fernando and San Carlos Streets.

Permanent - appearing barricades, constructed of painted metal pipes and reflectors, will be put up at both ends of Seventh Street.

Executive Dean C. Grant Burton stated, "During the next few months there will be ample opportunity for the community to observe the importance of permanent closure to the college. We believe and hope that there will be no major disruption to traffic."

'Killion' Cars Looted

Unknown persons entered the parking lot beneath Killion Hall, 315 E. San Fernando St., and burglarized several parked cars early yesterday morning, San Jose Police have reported.

Psych Major To Join Mass Civic Aud Rally

Donna Waterman, SJS sophomore psychology major, will share the speaker's rostrum with John Beecher, resident poet at Santa Clara University, at the Mass Memorial Rally in Montgomery Theater, San Jose Civic Auditorium Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

The rally is jointly sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), and the Santa Clara County Friends of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

Miss Waterman has participated in several "civil rights" demonstrations around the country, including the massive "March on Washington" last month, a picket against alleged "employment discrimination" in Brooklyn, and a demand for "fair housing" in Prince Edward County, Va.

SJS President Sees Plans For Dorms

Pres. John T. Wahlquist's office is presently studying plans to construct four new residence halls on the South Campus to house an additional 2,800 students and faculty members.

The additional dormitories are called for in the college's FTE (full time equivalent) budget figure, which allows for the building of dorms for 25 per cent of the FTE students.

The four halls, each with a capacity of 700, would separately house men students, women students, married students and faculty members.

President Wahlquist also indicated the college's interest in allowing private agencies to furnish the housing, as is done at Los Angeles State College. There, private firms have built four 10-story buildings, which the school has leased and now occupies and manages.

President Wahlquist added that if and when the state gives SJS the go ahead on the new residence halls, they will be built in three or four phases.

YRs Pass Resolution Censuring All Who Support GOP Unity

The SJS Young Republicans last night unanimously passed a resolution calling for the censure of all who support the pending plea for GOP unity called for by some members of the Republican party.

Bill Pollack, membership chairman of the local group, stated that U. S. Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif.) and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller are responsible for the disunity in the Republican party.

Pollack claims that it is the supporters of unity in the Republican ranks, such as Kuchel and Rockefeller, that are actually causing the disunity.

Two-Thirds Vote Needed To Approve College Union

SJS students will vote Dec. 11 and 12 on the proposed $3.6 million College Union.

The dates were set yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the College Union Planning Committee.

The poll will determine if students wish to assess themselves mandatory fees to finance the union.

If the proposal passes by a two-thirds vote, the first union fees will be collected next fall.

The assessments will rise on a graduated scale from $3 to $18 a student during a period of four school years.

Construction of the union would begin in 1966-67 and be done in about two years.

In other action, committee members outlined a campaign to inform SJS students of the union.

The campaign will begin the week of Oct. 21 and will consist of eight parts.

'NOT PROPAGANDA'

"The purpose of the campaign is not to propagandize students into voting for the union, but to be sure everyone knows what it is," Dr. Dwight Bentel, head of the Union Planning Committee, emphasized.

INFORMATION PROGRAM
Included in the information program will be:

—Background and progress reports in campus communications media.

—Speaker's kit, for talks in approved living centers, clubs, fraternities, sororities, dorms and other approved living centers.

—Display material, including posters, site and automated signs, banners, decals and bumper strips.

—Speaker's bureau, to go with the speaker's kit.

—Tours of the student unions at Stanford and the University of California at Berkeley.

—A student questionnaire.

—Mechanics of voting procedure.

—Publicity releases.

FILM TO BE MADE

Robert Bronzan, SJS athletic director, suggested a film be made of the Stanford and University of California unions.

Bronzan will see if the film can be made this close to the start of the campaign.

SJS Vice-President Dr. William Dusel, head of the union director appointment committee, reported he has 20 candidates waiting for the results of the December election.

"We have expressions of interest and folders for them," Dr. Dusel continued. "No further screening is necessary."

Kennedy Relaxes Tensions, Says Sociology Professor

Dr. Snell Putney, assistant professor of sociology, told an audience in CH149 Wednesday that "the Kennedy administration is trying to sneak a relaxation of international tensions over on the American people."

Mandel indicated that through the avoidance of the cold war the U.S. could lessen its military expenditures. He stated that the military expenditures in the U.S.

"The Kennedy team consists of practical politicians who are closely attuned to public opinion," he maintained.

Dr. Putney's talk, sponsored by the Student Peace Union, was answered in a five-minute rebuttal by Robert Edmonds, assistant professor of economics, who charged that "the fundamental nature of the world struggle was not discussed today. This is a struggle between the Communist world and the free world," he emphasized.

Before drawing his conclusion that the Kennedy administration is seeking to ease tensions, Putney examined five theories that have been advanced to explain the conduct of the present administration.

"First," Dr. Putney said, "is the warmonger theory, that Kennedy is trying to increase world tension. Second is the opinion that secret deals were made between Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev."

The third and fourth theories suggested that Kennedy is trying to lead public opinion or that he is merely following public opinion toward peace.

"The fifth theory is that the Kennedy administration is characterized by random vacillation—that is, no policy," Dr. Putney said.

The sociology professor suggested that there were five things that should be watched for in the immediate future.

"I think we're going to see a thaw in Soviet-American relations. We will see more arms control. I believe we will now see more disarmament."

"We will see an increasing accommodation between the United States and the Soviet Union."

"We may see a slowing up of the space race."

"Here For The Best — Elsewhere For The Rest"

The Way It Should Be

The college administration made a wise decision Wednesday. It allowed William Mandel, a left-wing sympathizer, to speak on campus yesterday without an administration "answer man."

Last spring, Mandel wasn't allowed to speak on campus unless a college spokesman could answer his charges. The situation was a compromise reached after two days of bickering among the various groups.

Yesterday, Mandel talked without any college official on hand to answer him. He presented his views and his audience was free to evaluate them. That is the way it should be.—J.A.

Welcome, Parents

To the 2,000 parents visiting our campus tomorrow for San Jose State's first annual Parents Day, we extend a warm welcome. It's doubtful if a "day" can adequately express our appreciation to our parents, but we welcome the opportunity to so honor them.

Many students here are here only because of financial assistance from parents, and many parents have sacrificed for years in order to provide their sons and daughters with a college education, an education that some of them get no closer to than the weekly check sent to the student.

Mom and dad, we hope you enjoy your day at SJS. Visit us again next year, won't you?—J.A.

Campus Voice Editor Replies on Morality

Editor:

I suppose that I must write a reply to Jerry Arca's editorial and a letter which appeared in this column supporting Arca's views.

It seems that the morality of The Campus Voice is the issue Arca and McInnis raised. This I can dismiss easily, as the morality of society is our concern, not the morality of the magazine I co-edit. If students and faculty members on this campus wish to read about the chaos in America (and the world), they are welcome to purchase a copy of The Campus Voice.

We present controversy to our readers, not the puerile claptrap which emanates from officially-approved college newspapers. Freud, W.E.B. Dubois, Marx, Jung, D. H. Lawrence, Baldwin, Albert Ellis and Henry Miller are but a few of the thinkers we and our contributors discuss in our pages. Most of these artists explore what the uninitiated would call "repugnant ideas in repulsive language."

We assume that the readers of our publication will not become upset or nauseated when confronted with ugliness, brutality and sordidness of reality. We also assume that our readers do not have a two-dimensional view of the world. We further assume that our readers do not want a steady diet of joe college journalism and are rather tired of a dull presentation of controversial ideas.

To say that The Campus Voice is a "base" or "obscene" publication is to misrepresent us and to miss the point entirely. Life itself is base and obscene.

Drama Club Gives $100 Scholarships

Because of their outstanding achievements in drama, Sandra Wood, Marion Stave, and Jim Tellefson were recently awarded $100 scholarships by the San Jose State Players, the only honorary drama society on campus.

Students of the club raise the money for the scholarships by themselves. Their main income comes from serving coffee during intermissions at college plays, and club members will be on hand at next week's presentation of "Little Mary Sunshine."

The following students were initiated into the club: Bob Bigelow, Gretchen Green, Gail Lundin, Lee Ruggles, Larry Arzie, Marion Stave, Kevin Seligman, Sharon Cressio, and Carol Long.

Liz Taylor, Burton 'Come' to S.J.

Elizabeth Taylor wasn't wearing a Roman gown, nor was Richard Burton clad as the mighty warrior. But they were at their best as they starred in their first modern drama together, "The V.I.P.s," which opened last night in San Jose.

Based on an original screen play by Terence Rattigan, the story concerns a group of Very Important Persons whose lives are irrevocably altered when their plane flights from London are delayed by a heavy fog.

Liz Taylor plays the beautiful and spoiled wife of a shipping tycoon (Burton). The part fits her perfectly, for it gave me the feeling of Miss Taylor starring in her autobiography. Interwoven in the plot is Louis Jourdan, the international playboy who plans to elope with Miss Taylor.

LIZ APPEARS FREQUENTLY

Fans of Liz Taylor will undoubtedly be all eyes at this movie, for she is seen quite frequently and sometimes quite revealing—especially in her pink, flowing negligee. In each scene her beauty and excellent acting ability prove Miss Taylor is truly the star of the film. Also, her diadem hairdos might even start a new trend for that V.I.P. look.

Laughter filled the theater when Margaret Rutherford came in as the absent-minded Duchess of Brighton. Just her manner of dress was enough to start one laughing. She wore a man's hat, sloppy coat collared with a moth-eaten raccoon fur, saggy dress, and medium-heeled shoes with bright red bobby socks. In her hand was a warped, unzipped carrying case.

Adding to the variety of the characters were Elsa Martinelli as the dim-witted but curvaceous actress, Rod Taylor as the sinking tractor magnate, Orson Welles as the stuffy and miserly film producer, Maggie Smith as the shy, devoted secretary, and Linda Christian as the flippant blonde girlfriend of Taylor.

WHY IS MOVIE SO IMPORTANT?

Why is this movie causing such excitement? The answer is two words—Elizabeth Taylor, one of the best known people in the country. According to the American Institute of Public Opinion, Miss Taylor, alias Cleopatra, is better known than Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and almost three times as well known as Gov. George Romney of Michigan, both key figures in the GOP presidential nomination in 1964.

Upon release of this film, one question comes to mind. How will it affect the epic movie "Cleopatra?" The only reason many people want to view "Cleo" is to see Miss Taylor and Burton making love. Perhaps the audience's desires will be fulfilled in "The V.I.P.s," and they'll find no reason for seeing the film about that famous Nile queen.

Or perhaps this film will urge the people on to see "Cleo" because of such a splendid performance by the famous two of Filmland at last night's opening.

Yes, Liz Taylor and Richard Burton make news in whatever they do, and it looks like their illuminating performance in this Anatole de Grunwald production has made the Fine Arts headlines.

Tile Survey
NEW YORK (UPI)—American preference for durable easy-to-maintain surfacing materials has been pointed up in a recent coast-to-coast survey of home builders, according to the Tile Council of America. Of 1,500 builders questioned, 80 per cent said they expect to use more ceramic tile in the next five years than they are using at present.

Student Represents SJS At Theta Sig Convention

Senior journalism major Regina McGuinness represented SJS at the Theta Sigma Phi, national fraternity for women in journalism, convention in late August in Cleveland.

The 31st annual convention was attended by more than 250 student and professional delegates from all parts of the country.

Distinguished personalities such as Roy Neal, NBC aerospace commentator; Hon. Frances P. Bolton, congress woman from Ohio and ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee; and Nancy Yu-Huang, publisher and director of the China Post, first English morning newspaper on Taiwan, were among the many speakers at the convention.

During the four-day affair the delegates saw the sights of Cleveland and a Tel-Star demonstration hook-up from Cleveland direct to London at the Friday luncheon.

Greek Dance For Tonight Is Canceled

San Jose State Panhellenic Council voted recently to call off the scheduled Panhellenic Dance to be held tonight. According to Pat Scannell, newly elected Panhellenic president, the dance was eliminated because it interfered with many weekend activities. No such dance will be reslated for this year.

Miss Scannell is replacing Caryn Feuz who didn't return to San Jose State this semester.

Stow That Hose
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The next trend in home lawn care may be underground piping to eliminate the choice of holding a watering hose, dragging out sprinklers or letting the grass die.

New rigid plastic pipe and fittings expressly designed for lawn sprinkling systems can be installed underground at costs that are within reason for most homeowners, according to Chemetron Corporation, affiliate of Tube Turns Plastics, Inc.

Women's Hockey Team Needs More Players

Experienced women hockey players who would enjoy playing on an extra-mural team should sign up before Monday noon by asking for Miss Lee Walter, assistant professor of women's P.E., at the equipment room.

Monday at 4:30 the extra-mural players will meet on the field between the health and music buildings on San Carlos St.

Hockey equipment will be provided by the SJS Women's Physical Education Dept.

Chico State, San Francisco State, University of California at Berkeley, and Stanford are slated as sportsday competitors.

Dean Tomes Is Honored At AWS Tea

Dean of Women, Dr. Cornelia Tomes was honored yesterday afternoon at a special AWS Student-Faculty Tea.

Dr. Tomes, formerly with the Education Department, was welcomed to her new position by student leaders and selected members of the administration and faculty.

Barbara Worrell, AWS Student-Faculty Committee chairman, explains that the purpose of her committee in presenting this special tea and other activities is for the promotion of a better student-faculty relationship.

Entertainment was provided by the Dull Skulls, a group of Chi Omega singers, and refreshments were served in H1.

Sorority Pledges Debut Tomorrow

Is your sister, girlfriend, or special interest a new sorority pledge incumbent? Will she be standing in line smiling and accepting compliments from interested admirers tomorrow afternoon?

Many people ask how to acknowledge a pledge at sorority presents. Telegrams, flowers, or any memo would be most acceptable. Even more important is your presence in the receiving line. Sorority houses will open tomorrow between 2 and 5 p.m.

Famished Owls Crave Win Against Spartan Poloists

Football College's water polo squad will try to satisfy a shriveled stomach tonight when it meets San Jose State tonight in the Spartan pool at 8:30.

The frosh preliminary game begins at 7:30. Students with ASB cards will be admitted free.

The Owls have fasted on Spartan cooking during their past five meetings, leaving town with ruffled feathers.

Coach Nort Thornton says his squad is keyed up for the NorCal league opener.

The Los Altos neighbors have a strong, fast team that will out-sprint the Spartan splashers, but will have trouble outscoring them, according to SJS headman Lee Walton.

Football will utilize its speed in a six-man break offense that will keep the locals busy on defense.

San Jose's controlled, three-man break, is designed around a shooting game with hard-nosed defense.

However, lack of speed and senior leadership, may take a toll on the Spartans at the outset of the game.

Herman Radloff is the only veteran in the San Jose lineup, with sophomores and JC transfers filling the other positions.

How the lack of experience will hurt the Spartans won't be known until match time, but Walton picks his charges to win by three goals.

Leading the Spartans is Gary Read, a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder from Fullerton JC. The slender junior has been tabbed by the coaching staff as the best all-around player on the squad.

Co-captain Bill Parker and Jeff Logan, both sophomores, will hold down the other forward spots. Parker was the second-best scorer on the frosh team last year.

Mike Hansen, 165-pound sophomore from Cupertino, Co-Captain Charley Douglas from Orange Coast JC, and Radloff get the nod at the guard spots.

Bob Howse, a 6-foot-4 220-pound soph, will be in the cage if San Jose gets the deep end of the pool. Larry Loganhill, a 6-foot-6 "drink of water" from Long Beach CC, will also see goalie duty.

The frosh, unlike the varsity, have speed to burn and will show same against the Owl JV's.

The coaching staff is really confident on the freshmen having a banner year, similar to the 1962 squad which posted a 19-3 record to snare the NorCal title.

Jack Likins, Bruce Cotter, Garth Rader, Chuck Pyle, Kevin Currin and Fred Haket will comprise the freshman scoring sextet.

Gary Fischen, who has never played water polo in his life, has shown tremendous potential in the cage and will start at goalie.

Menlo College Meets Booters

Menlo College battles San Jose State's soccer team tomorrow morning at 10:30 in a non-league match at Menlo Field.

Coach Julie Menendez sends his undefeated Spartans against the Oaks in hopes that his squad can capture its third win.

Co-captains Al Korbus and Dave Kingsley will be leading the way for the Spartans in the contest. Both performers have been great assets to the team.

Korbus booted four goals against Chico State last weekend as San Jose blasted the Wildcats, 6-1.

Lou Fraser and Jerry Koopman each kicked a goal for the Spartans against Chico. Kingsley and Efiok Akpan did a good job in setting up all of the scoring plays.

Fullbacks Ed Zumat and Colin Lindores teamed with left half-back Dave Gabor to throw up a strong defense against the Wildcats.

San Jose's squad has been working together as a solid unit in its two games. Teutonia Soccer Club of San Francisco was edged by the Spartans Tuesday night 2-1 as Kingsley and Fraser provided the scoring.

Teutonia was the soccer champion of the Bay Area the past season but the Spartans were able to use a good defense and timely scoring to defeat the visiting team.

Slobodan Galeb, Tom Zinter and goalie Valdez Svans have also been doing a good job for San Jose.

Kansas State Duels SJS in Home Opener

Winning Prescription: Stop Cats' Option-Type Offense

By DAVE NEWHOUSE

It will be San Jose State against the option-type offense for the second consecutive week when Kansas State's "new look" Wildcat tangles with Spardi under the lights tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Spartan Stadium.

Doug Weaver's KSU aggregation appears to be a different football team than those which racked up an 18-game losing streak over the last two years. The Wildcats clawed Brigham Young 24-7 in the season opener for both teams at Manhattan, Kan.

Better recruiting has appeared to have feathered the KSU cap. The number of outside-staters on the Kansas roster is 24.

The Wildcats, behind quarterback Larry Corrigan and halfback Doug Dusenbury, can make the option play work just as well as Stanford, who clipped SJS 29-18 Saturday. This was the report of Bob Jones, Spartan frosh coach, who scouted the Kansas State-BYU drubbing.

"I didn't get to see (Clark) Weaver against us, but, I'd bet Corrigan is every bit as good," Jones stressed. This statement is quite a mouthful, but nothing to choke on.

Spartan Coach Bob Titchenal has been working hard with his linebackers and defensive halfbacks on how to stop the KSU roll-outs.

Students going to tomorrow night's football game may enter only on the east side of the stadium (10th Street). To be admitted, SJS students must show their own ASB card.

The Stanford game gave the Spartans a good look at the option play. Therefore, from a scheduling standpoint we should be a winner. However, to beat the Wildcats in the season's home opener, it'll take a complete team performance.

KSU is big in the backfield. Ron Barlow (220) and fullback Willis Crenshaw (210) both hit the line with power. Corrigan and Dusenbury can sweep the ends and throw the pigskin equally well.

San Jose State's best bet is the pass, which brings in Rand Carter, and the end sweep. If the Spartans can't turn in two ends weighing

WILLIS CRENSHAW

"Titch" didn't blame the defensive backfield for the Stanford setback. "Our ends and linebackers weren't 'checking' their pass receivers. The linebackers were also being drawn in by the fake feed to the fullback going into the line, leaving the quarterback running room around the ends," Titchenal pointed out.

"To beat Kansas State, we'll have to tackle much better than last Saturday," Titchenal said. "The game movies, however, showed we did a good job."
